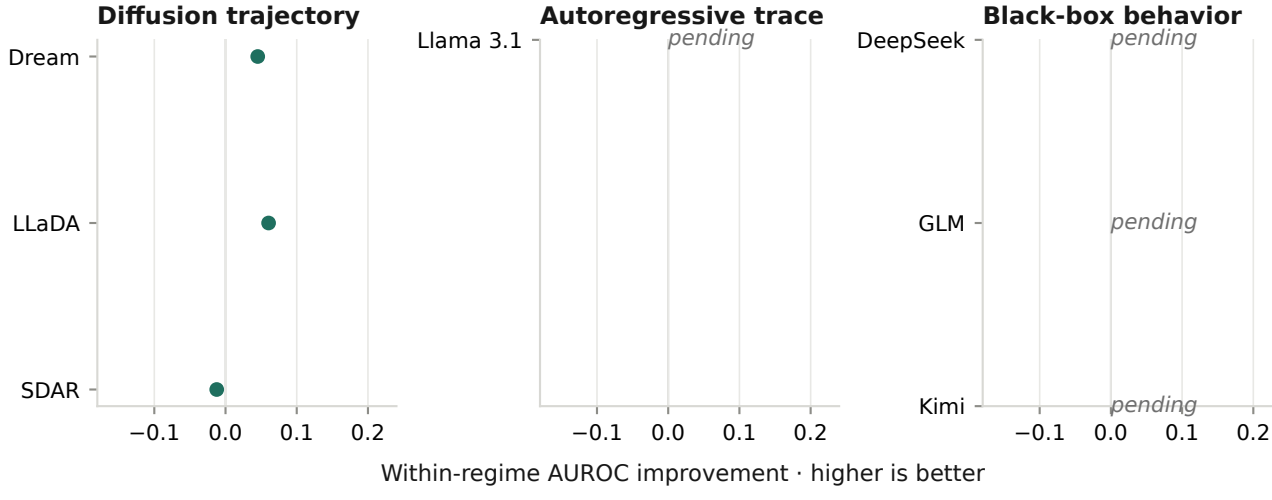
Usable uncertainty is assessed within three observability regimes



Panels are descriptive across regimes; do not rank systems across panels.
Intervals appear only when an authoritative compatible registry provides them.